THE SIGMUND AND HERMINE FREY SCHOLARSHIP FOR CIVIC ENGAGEMENT RESEARCH

As part of its Civic Engagement Initiative, the UCLA Alan D. Leve Center for Jewish Studies invites undergraduate students to apply for scholarship funds to support research projects, internships or language study in any field of Jewish Studies.

Priority will be given to proposals with a connection to civic engagement and/or social ethics. Examples include proposals that would apply the lessons of the Jewish experience such as the Holocaust to contemporary issues or those that involve ongoing work with a community organization. For the purposes of this scholarship, research is broadly defined; it can therefore include traditional historical projects requiring library and archival research as well as creative endeavors such as museum exhibitions, interviews/oral histories, blogs, videos, social media and other digital media projects.

This support is made possible by the Sigmund and Hermine Frey Scholarship Fund for Undergraduate Students in Jewish Studies. UCLA undergraduates in all majors are eligible to apply as long as the project is focused in some way on Jewish Studies. Students must enroll in an SRP 99 course during summer session for two units and pay the campus fee.

Awards will be administered by the Undergraduate Research Center for the Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences in the UCLA College, and overseen by the UCLA Alan D. Leve Center for Jewish Studies.

Amount: Up to $3,000 per summer or quarter. The award may affect a student's financial aid package. Consult your financial aid advisor.

Before submitting your application, contact the Center for Jewish Studies' Community Affairs Coordinator Mary Pinkerson: mpinkers@humnet.ucla.edu for assistance or review. Submit to cjs@humnet.ucla.edu with "Frey Scholarship" in the subject line.
